En cas de contestation, s'il est établi que deux ou plusieurs enchérisseurs ont porté simultanément une enchère équivalente, l'objet sera remis en adjudication pour tout le public. L'OVV se réserve le droit de ne pas recevoir les enchères d'enchérisseur ayant pour but de porter atteinte au bon fonctionnement des enchères. Export

Buyers should always check whether an export licence is required before exporting . It is the buyer's sole responsibility to obtain any relevant export or import licence. Pre-emption of the French state

The French state is entitled to use a right of pre-emption on works of art, pursuant to the rules of law in force. The use of this right comes immediately after the hammer stroke, the representative of the French state expressing then the intention of the State to substitute for the last bidder, provided he confirms the pre-emption decision within fifteen days.

QUAI DES ENCHERES will not bear any liability/responsibility for the conditions of the pre-emption by the French State

Handling or payment issues

The lot will be delivered to the buyer only after the entire payment of the price, costs and taxes. In the meantime QUAI DES ENCHERES may invoice to the buyer the costs of storage of the lot, and if applicable the costs of handling and transport.

Should the buyer fail to pay the amount due, and after notice to pay has been given QUAI DES ENCHERES to the buyer without success, at the seller's request, the lot is re-offered for sale, under the French procedure known as "procédure de folle enchère". If the seller does not make this request within a month from the date of the sale, the sale will be automatically cancelled, without prejudice to any damages owed by the defaulting buyer.

In addition, QUAI DES ENCHERES reserves the right to claim against the defaulting buyer, at their option:

- interest at the legal rate increased by five points,
- the reimbursement of additional costs generated by the buyer's default,
- the payment of the difference between the initial hammer price and the price of sale after "procédure de folle enchère" if it is inferior as well as the costs generated by the new auction.

QUAI DES ENCHERES also reserves the right to set off any amount

QUAI DES ENCHERES may owe the defaulting buyer with the amounts to be paid by the defaulting buyer.

QUAI DES ENCHERES reserves the right to exclude from any future auction, any bidder who has been a defaulting buyer or who has not fulfilled these general conditions of purchase.

For items purchased which are not collected within seven days from after the sale (Saturdays, Sundays and public holidays included), QUAI DES ENCHERES will be authorized to move them into a storage place at the defaulting buyer's expense, and to release them to same after payment of corresponding costs, in addition to the price, costs and taxes.
